Wheels Are In Favor.

Bicycle Dealers Enjoy a Brisk Business.

Ruhlin and Kenny Will Meet March 31.

Frank Motz Has Been Trans- ferred to Chicago.

McGovern Had Little Trouble—Local Sporting News.

Eighteen hundred and ninety-six was the golden year for the seller of bicycles; last year was not so good, but this season is expected to rank next to the one four years ago, when anything with two wheels and a saddle was sold before it was built. Everything and everybody in the bicycle factories are now working and no wheels are piling up in the warehouses. Order books are filling rapidly and dealers and manufacturers are confident that they will be called upon to furnish more bicycles than they have been since the year when everybody rode.

There has been a change in the people buying the goods. The men and women who are now asking for prices want wheels as a business proposition. Fadism is dead. The morning glory that used to be painted on the tubing has gone where the parlor lunch of paper roses waited for it. The wheel of 1900 is constructed for business, and cuteness has been sacrificed to swiftness and strength. It will cost you $40 or $50 or $75, depending upon your taste in the matter of chains, but whether there is a chain or not you have your money's worth of stuff in the wheel.

Most of the bicycles are enameled black. This is another sign that fadism is dead. The saddles and handlebars are built for comfort. The pedals have been adjusted so that it is not labor to operate them. Some wheels are equipped with gear cases, which cover the chain and keep out the dust. Others have bushes which are applied to the rear tire in casing, and which do away with the necessity of making your feet so ground when you are going with the wind. The brake stop the wheel almost instantly. It goes with the main, and its cost is included in the purchase price. Its advocates say it will not injure the rear tire. In sundries, which are to a wheel what Tribby hearts and Nethercole chains are to women's dress, there is more diversity of form than there is in the wheel itself. Bicycles look nearly alike. The sundries are as different as things can be. Lamps like headlights and lamps fashioned like those of Spain are two examples. The favorite flame comes from gas. Kerosene adds too many chances to the sport of riding a wheel. In the bells there are on-rings and two-rings and

EACH WON A GAME.

The Eureka and Crown bowling teams rolled two games on the Howard st. Alley, Thursday night. The games were the first of a series of four games between the teams, to determine the holder of the silver trophy, recently won by the Peerless team, in the tournament of the Howard st. Bowling League. The result of the contest will have no effect upon the city championship, as, according to the rules that can only be decided in open tournament, and by right belongs to the Peerless bowlers.

After the present series is finished, the Crown team which won third place in the tournament will challenge the winners.

The teams broke even Thursday night, but in the total score the Eureka had the better of the argument, by 33 pins. The Peerless team won the first game with a margin of 60 pins, while the Eureka came back in the second match with 83 pins to spare. The score follows:

EASY FOR WHITE.

Tommy White of Chicago, the light weight, who is soon to meet Terry McGovern, defeated an opponent in Des Moines, Wednesday night, who was advertised to be Jack Downey, of Brooklyn, N. Y., but whom the sports declare is not the well known fighter of that name. The fight lasted less than two rounds. White putting his man out in the second. A good crowd witnessed the contest. There were several minor bouts.

HARD MADE BIG GAIN.

As the pool tournament between John Rampanelli, Jr. and Met Hard for the championship of Summit county, and a $29 prize, progresses, interest in the match increases. The former now leads in the race by 10 balls. Toward the finish of Thursday's game excitement was at fever heat. The total score at the outset stood Rampanelli 310, Hard 278. This gave Hard a 122 ball lead for the game against "Ramp's" 90. Hard seized the opportunity and succeeded in reducing his opponent's lead. Toward the end of the game Hard made a 15 ball run, and it began to look as if he would reach his limit and end the game, but "Ramp" took a brace and landed over his mark, by 1 ball blocking Hard within 9 balls of his goal. The score for the evening stood Rampanelli 91; Hard 113. The total score stands, Rampanelli, 401; Hard, 391.

The fifth and last game of the series will be played tonight, and it will be "any man's game." The result will be watched with great interest. The player first reaching the 500 ball mark will end the game. This limits Rampanelli to 39 balls and Hard to 109 balls.

FIGHT PICTURES.

Sharkey and Jeffries met in a 25 round contest at the Grand opera house Thursday. There is a decided difference of opinion as to the decision of Referee George Siler. The majority of those present believe that it should have been a draw. Siler thought otherwise. He declared Jeffries the winner. It is not plain on what he based his decision. For a majority of the rounds the sailor was the aggressor. He landed frequently, apparently
